

Re: String changer early attempt

Source: <http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/Assembler/alt.lang.asm/2004-02/0005.html>

andrewkennedy1_at_ev1.net

Date: 02/01/04

Date: Sat, 31 Jan 2004 23:06:54 -0000

Herbert Kleebauer <kleeb@unibwm.de> wrote:

>andrewkennedy1@ev1.net wrote:

>>

>> I am trying to modify this to slow down "string changers".

>> I put some comments on the string_changer section below.

>>

>> Thanks,

>> Andrew Kennedy

>>

>> andrewkennedy2@ev1LOG.net

>> To respond by email remove the LOG from the address.

>>

>> ; no_no.asm Rename a file to current date mmddyy.ext

>> ;

>

>I suppose you want to use the program in a batch file. It >would be much simpler to only get the date in the program >and do the rename in the batch code. In the example below, >the program is only executed if the text in the last two >echo lines is not modified.

Just partly. My biggest problems is converting the code to a command line version.

What language are you using on the code example.

Thanks.