What was it copied from?

Do you understand the difference between "copied from" and "rephrased", or are you really completely stupid?

Sorry. My mistake. When you said:

"AoA16 always was an insane Blabla without any information that would not have been copied from others works. Same for the so called "Standard Library"."

I though perhaps you meant what you said. Stupid me!

No need of irony, here.

In case you would not know, years ago, i took in charge (and _did_) the partial port of AoA16 to 32 Bits with the "nice authorization" of the swindler. The one you proof-readed, if you don't recall. So, i am in a good situation for knowing that this document was nothing but what could have been found in any Assembly book years earlier. Or do you suppose that i had never read any Assembly book when i was younger?

So said, you are right here (even though i was talking, in the particular case, about the so scandalous tutorial about Win32 Assembly...), i should not have written "copied", but "rephrased". _Of course_.

Re: HLA v1.86 is now available

Yes... taken from others' works, which were all known since YEARS, while he was nicely sleeping on his past laurels.

Where would I find these "others'" standard library? I know C's got one. There are several others. The HLA Standard Library is more extensive than any other I'm aware of. What was it "rephrased" from?

There's nothing "new" in the library – it can all be learned in the MicroSoft documentation, or the Linux man pages, or other places. It doesn't take a "genius inventor" to do this – it takes a hard worker! Randy did this grunt work – lots of it – and made the result freely available to us. You can claim he "merely rephrased" the C Standard Library (or some other) if you want to. It was still a pile of haed work!

Joking me, i suppose.

I was worried about you when you got quiet a while ago, too! You'd just stated that you expected to live another 20 years... and Chuck had warned us about tempting the fates... Just moving to a new house, I guess? I can't resist – "Old one fall down?" :)

No. It is still there, but i bought a new one, in a more pretty place.

Good! I seem to recall you complaining about the encroaching "monoculture". "Fields of yellow". Hope you've got more diversity – and birds – at the new place.

I effectively live in a lesser damaged country, in the east of France, but there is no more any hope, on that point.

Even in a "lesser damaged" area, birds are around 10% of what they were, say, 50 years ago, many birds and insects have completely disappeared, and it will go that way, worse and worse.

Re: HLA v1.86 is now available

In the coming years (already started...) agriculture will be more and more the industrial base for Bio-Chemy, green oil, and so on. And when you see what they do, for products which are essentially for food production, you can easily guess what they will do for "non-food" productivity.

I'm very much afraid we will learn what fascism is. I've often wondered... Stalin, Hitler, others... how do people allow them to gain such power???

The same way you gave power to Bush and to Isreal.

"Israel". You been taking spelling lessons from Beth? :)

(Speaking of Beth... I just emailed her... came back "mailbox unavailable" ... Hope she's okay!)

May i suggest that there could be some relationship in between the LuxAsm Project failure and her "disparition"?...

I think I understand how Bush came to power (although not why we were so easily fooled).

? Were "you" (the US people) really fooled ?

For what i know (hear) of the US people, of its laws system, of its social psychology, of its religious dements organizations, and so on, it does not sound to me like a neo-nazi people could be "fooled" by a neo-nazi leader.

Israel is a real mystery to me. I understand your theories about how we want to extend our "influence" (Empire) across the region. I can't think of a less useful ally to achieve this goal!!!

One of the problem (which i ignore the answer to) is about who is ruling who. I really do not know if the USA are gouverned by Isreal or the reverse.

What is 100% sure, is that the initial crime, that was the creation of Isreal, had been perpetrated by the occidental countries. England, mainly, but not only.

Now, questioning about the "usefulness" of such a collusion is another story. The fact, for example, that the empire attempts actually regularly fail pathetically has no other reason but the complete stupidity of these new nazis, even though, in some funny way, the real goal of these crimes against humanity, have reached their final intention, that is, as i already told you, to break the commercial links in between Europe and the arabian countries. Would not all of these wars (and/or complete corruptions) have destroyed the arabian countries, the axis of the modern world would run from Europe to Arabia, and the USA would be out of this axis.

Horrible things have already happend, and are going on happening

If I recall my history lessons, it started even before there was a United States. What did they do without us? :)

, with the only difference that we will be lesser and lesser informed of them.

A bit of a paradox, there. I know what you're saying – the "news" is pretty well "managed". The government is sneaking around behind our back with secret programs... and prisons! We've got a case where the ACLU is defending somebody – some sort of "library" (not that kind) issue. But they can't say who they're defending, because it's illegal to reveal that you're being investigated under the "Patriot" Act!

On the other hand, communication is improving. For example, when I rad in the papers that "Paris is burning!", I can talk to you and find out what the actual situation is. This kind of "checking" used to be more difficult – ham radio guys used to do some of it. So there's a bright side to an otherwise disturbing situation.

The "new" real problem is with the quantity: There are tons of informations each days, and we hear only of ... what they choose to talk about.

The days when an "awakening" was possible are gone, IMHO, and i have no illusion about any way for getting "our rights back". The last "rights" we have are the ones, deprived of any importance, that the Crime&Co is good willing to let we still have, and for the real things, we are not even allowed to know of them.

If we're not allowed to know, how do you know? Got an "in" with Crime&Co? :)

No. :))

I have several "in", with many different people. For example, people working at the defense of nature, who are way more informed than anybody else about what is really going on with pollution.

But... no, i do not know much but the couple of things i can retrieve from these sources, and getting informed about what is going on is a real hard work, that an average citizen can evidently not do.

The Declaration of Independence say that our rights were "endowed" on us by our Creator. I don't see any evidence of that. The only rights any people ever had are the ones we take!

For example, you will get tons of informations about the actual Isrealian war... maybe, somebody will even comment about the collusion and relationship with the USA will of taking control on the whole area, its failure at taking control on Irak and incapacity at destroying the other countries around ...

Destruction, we have the capacity for! If destruction were the goal, you'd see plenty of destruction. What we seem to lack the capacity for, is to exert some "influence" or "control" (Empire) without

Re: HLA v1.86 is now available

destroying what we would exploit.

but nobody will ever explain you the reasons why,

I take it that means you're not going to? :(

I simply do not know. Who is ruling the world, nowadays?
I have no info about this. It could as well be really possible that the world government would not exist.

A fact is that i see many events which push me to suppose that there is some kind of "world wide conspiracy", but it might as well be nothing but the natural coincidency of similar wills, that i would interpret the wrong way.

.... Way too long post, talking about way too many things...
I have some gardening to do, too...
