Okay, I've tried every resolution. They all look similar without ClearType.
None are better with ClearType.

Only thing I can think of is that your display is say BGR while incorrectly detected by windows as RGB. This would make cleartype fuzzy on any setting.

Under <http://www.microsoft.com/typography/ClearTypeFAQ.msp> there's a question "Will ClearType look OK if my screen's color striping is BGR instead of RGB?" Click on it and see which one looks better (using native resolution).
