Tim,

Oh, and just to be clear, Delphi.NET does allow for this. So the major flexibility point that people are talking about is covered, its just the other way that is not covered (multiple namespaces in one file) which IMO is not really that good an idea, in 2 years of C# coding (which allows this feature) I have never once needed or used it.

i'll be looking forward to seeing how Delphi will handle Windows Presentation Foundation auto-generated files, with that limitation.
