

Re: Newsgroup on the web at <http://delphi.newswhat.com>

Source:

<http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/Delphi/borland.public.delphi.thirdpartytools.general/2003-10/0596.html>

From: marcoc (marco_fakemail_at_marcocantu.com)

Date: 10/25/03

Date: Sat, 25 Oct 2003 15:46:17 +0000

>I found the reading of threads very "user-friendly".

We do it to the extreme. Some of the threads with 100+ messages in non-technical take a little to download (and strain our server a bit) but the result is a single HTML you can read and store locally for future reference.

Notice that clicking on the 24h colum you get a view with only the newest messages including the text. Same think if you log in you can get a view with only messages since the last login.

>Registration need State/Province to be at least three > chars (some of us do live outside of USA).

Noted. I do live outside of the US as well, but we use two characters.

> I had to cut and paste the complete URL address into IE to get > activation to work.

I guess the trouble is it is rather a long URL... I'll try to figure out a solution.

– Marco Cantu (author Mastering Delphi 7)
delphi&dintorni

— posted by geoForum on <http://www.delphiedintorni.it>