yes.

yesterday morning, +- 11:00am PST.

I just checked again, seems to be ok but there's a few rendering problems (see below). To small/top left thingie still there, however.

I'm using FF 1.0. Scrn Resolution: 800 x 600.

Rendering problems I observe now:

- <http://www.suitables.net/>

: nav buttons overlap bottom of flash ad (Free custom shirt)

Re: Imminent alpha release of Portal Builder for Delphi

: on "fabrics" page, after selecting any fabric tab, the selected page (wool/linen etc) display properly but selected tab does not change from 1st selection.

: contact page: a number of layout problems... row spacing varies, input fields overlap bottom of paragraph and graphic (pen on paper)

– <http://www.transportalservices.com/>

: top of page below tabs disappears under bottom of tabs.

: tab selection/navigation does not work

(didn't check other page).

BTW, all above fine under IE 6.0.2(xxx)

John:

your tool looks very promising. If you have/decide to keep and maintain an announcements list, please add me/my email. I'm interested. My correct email is in posting header here.

Good luck w/this thing.
