

Question about WinLicense

---

Source:

<http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/Delphi/borland.public.delphi.thirdpartytools.general/2008-01/msg00147.html>

---

- From: "Dennis Landi" <nada@xxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Thu, 10 Jan 2008 10:27:10 +0530
-

Hello,

When an application is protected with WinLicense, does it have a significant impact on performance? If so, are there particular applications where this is the case, say, a high performance tcp-ip application that receives many requests per second?

Or is the protection executable "external" to the internal execution of the code.

This topic is new to me, so I apologize in advance for dumb questions.

TIA,

-d

.