

comp.programming: Re: Any experience with "The Last One"?

Re: Any experience with "The Last One"?

Source: <http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/General/comp.programming/2003-12/0189.html>

---

From: Gerry Quinn (gerryq\_at\_indigo.ie)

Date: 12/02/03

Date: Tue, 02 Dec 2003 15:06:58 GMT

In article <u86iqb.71p.ln@fenelon.com>, Pete Fenelon <pete@fenelon.com> wrote:

>In alt.folklore.computers Don Chiasson <don_chiasson@notmail.com> wrote:

>>> That's my vested interest – what's yours?

>>>

>> You have said nothing about your vested interest(s). Your tone is what I >> would expect from someone in the pay of Microsoft.

>

>This bloke comes across as someone who's either in marketing (he seems >to open his mouth regularly without engaging brain, characteristic of >that tribe), or has put a lot of his own money into an MCSE >bootcamp or some other form of "training" that makes him an "expert".

Looks like I've struck a nerve with at least one usenet moron. Got anything substantive to contribute?

– Gerry Quinn