

Re: Java as a first language

Source: <http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/Java/comp.lang.java.help/2003-10/0647.html>

---

From: Paul Lutus (nospam_at_nosite.zzz)

Date: 10/18/03

Date: Sat, 18 Oct 2003 11:32:34 -0700

ge0rge wrote:

> Bob X wrote:

> ...

>>

>> I have nothing to do with O'Reilly. I just like the book.

>

> Now, this is really getting silly! I know there is a argument going on > in another thread – which would have been better followed up off line in > the first place. Helpers, like yourself, should not feel inhibited > because of an old git pontificating about moral standards and treating > everybody else as morons unable to understand what's written on a web > page.

You do not understand the issue being discussed, and you are clearly also ethics-disabled.

The above qualifier is completely in keeping with current practice, and is always recommended when there is any doubt as to one's motives in making a particular recommendation. Do you think I just made up these behavioral rules?

--

Paul Lutus

<http://www.arachnoid.com>