

Re: save control characters in a session object

Source: <http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/Java/comp.lang.java.programmer/2004-02/2767.html>

From: Andreas Bauer (buki_at_gmx.net)

Date: 02/23/04

Date: Mon, 23 Feb 2004 21:10:47 +0100

> Then the HTML page this produces will not care about any newlines in your > strings. One way to get around the newline problem would be to, when you > *are displaying the strings, replace all "\n" characters with "
".*
> This will create the newlines for you in HTML.

>
> A better solution might be to wrap your formatted text with <pre>...</pre> > tags. This attempts to preserve formatting as much as possible when > displayed in the browser.
>

Ok, you're right. Thanks for the hint. I will try this.