

Re: Decoupling musing

---

Source: <http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/Java/comp.lang.java.programmer/2005-11/msg02294.html>

---

- From: "VisionSet" <spam@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Sun, 20 Nov 2005 23:02:26 GMT
-

"Daniel Dyer" <dan@xx> wrote in message news:op.s0j3yzgugnpvuy@xx

> It's probably a useful approach in some situations. The approach that > tends to be used for this kind of thing is to give the class a reference > to a factory object...

Yes of course, not thinking straight.
Thanks for clarifying that.

—
Mike W

-
- References:
    - ◆ *Decoupling musing*
      - ◇ From: VisionSet
    - ◆ *Re: Decoupling musing*
      - ◇ From: Daniel Dyer
  - Prev by Date: *Re: java sdk suggestions*
  - Next by Date: *short circuit evaluations*
  - Previous by thread: *Re: Decoupling musing*
  - Next by thread: *Re: Decoupling musing*
  - Index(es):
    - ◆ *Date*
    - ◆ *Thread*