

Re: Bogus NullPointerExceptions

Source: <http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/Java/comp.lang.java.programmer/2006-12/msg00540.html>

- From: "Twisted" <twisted0n3@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: 1 Dec 2006 19:44:22 -0800
-

Tom Forsmo wrote:

Twisted wrote:

Nor did I react that way until some people had done much worse, and then only to those people (Joe Attardi is currently the #1 villain in that regard).

No he is not a villian, he is a gatekeeper trying to fend off all kind off dirt.

"Dirt". That's the worst name you can think up to call me right now? You also seem to have forgotten that this is an unmoderated group. Nobody has been appointed any kind of gatekeeper, bouncer, or whatever here, and nobody has any authority to "fend" me off just because they'd rather I didn't post here.

[snip threats that you'll continue attacking me if I don't stop defending myself and let you attack me with impunity -- nice try asshole]

They haven't been saying anything either a) on-topic, b) pleasant, or c) original for days now -- just repeating themselves over and over

Neither have you...

But I'm not the one in the driver's seat, dimbulb. Every time they post their shit I have to make sure those who read it get both sides of the story and not just their BS, which means a new followup. Every time they post the same crap, I therefore must post the same anti-crap to counteract its effect.

[snip more stupidity]

Re: Bogus NullPointerExceptions

Let me try and make this clear to you again.

Stop talking down to me like some kind of thug, cop, or other would-be bossy type. I don't take orders from you, and I don't take kindly to threats.

[Compares me to a mosquito]

Well, that's original, at least. Most of you lot's postings have about as much original material as my monthly cable bill.

[snip further attempts to trick me into lowering my guard]

Perhaps my consistently avoiding being tricked will eventually drive home the fact that I'M NOT THE IDIOT you bunch of dweebs seem to think I am.

I've had damaging rumors spread online about me before and I know from personal experience that they can result in serious repercussions, so you can't possibly expect me to be blase about this or to just ignore it and hope it goes away.

please do share...

No.

.