

Re: easy way to spank the monKey

Re: easy way to spank the monKey

Source: <http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/Java/comp.lang.java.programmer/2008-07/msg00305.html>

- From: Lew <lew@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 04 Jul 2008 18:44:25 -0400
-

Sherman Pendley wrote:

Lew <lew@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx> writes:

Sherman Pendley wrote:

Lew <lew@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx> writes:

Jussi Piitulainen wrote:

Seriously, if you are going to make jokes in your posts, you should add "[COFFEE WARNING]" to the subject line so that people know to put their cup down before reading. That's how it works on the internets.

God, suddenly everybody gets to set the rules for the Internet.

If you seriously think the above is an attempt to "set the rules," you need to grow a sense of humor.

Seriously, if you're going to be namby-pamby about having every little joke explained to you, ESPECIALLY in a thread that is nothing but invitations for jokes in the first place, then you need to get a life.

Re: easy way to spank the monKey

Pot, kettle...

You are wrong.

I don't think so.

The guy did say he was being serious. ("Seriously, ...")

Countless stand-up comedians begin jokes that way.

I guess my powers of mind reading are weaker than yours.

It doesn't take psychic powers to see the patently obvious, just a working sense of humor. Especially, as you said, in a thread that is nothing but an invitation for jokes in the first place.

Now you are the one taking me seriously. "Mind-reading"? Come on.

—

Lew

.