

Re: Statistics for comp.lang.lisp

---

Source: <http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/Lisp/comp.lang.lisp/2005-06/msg00287.html>

---

- From: Harald Hanche-Olsen <hanche@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: 05 Jun 2005 11:20:03 +0200
-

+ Tim Josling <tej\_at\_melbpc.org.au\_rubbish@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>:

| Christopher Browne wrote:

| > Top 10 Posters by OCR (minimum of five posts)

|

| What is OCR? Office for Civil Rights? Optical Character Recognition?

All of the above.

| My lateral thinking neurone is dead at the moment.

Not much needed, just some basic pattern recognition. The words "Original Content Rating" appear prominently near the top of the post.

It's harder to figure out what it means at the top google hit for OCR:

<http://www.ocr.org.uk/OCR/WebSite/docroot/index.jsp>

—

* Harald Hanche-Olsen <URL:http://www.math.ntnu.no/~hanche/>

– Debating gives most of us much more psychological satisfaction than thinking does: but it deprives us of whatever chance there is of getting closer to the truth. — C.P. Snow

.

---

• References:

- ◆ *Statistics for comp.lang.lisp*
◇ From: Christopher Browne
- ◆ *Re: Statistics for comp.lang.lisp*
◇ From: Tim Josling

- Prev by Date: *Re: ABCL for web-programming, reloaded*
- Next by Date: *Re: Statistics for comp.lang.lisp*
- Previous by thread: *Re: Statistics for comp.lang.lisp*
- Next by thread: *Re: Statistics for comp.lang.lisp*
- Index(es):

Re: Statistics for comp.lang.lisp

- ◆ Date
- ◆ Thread