

Re: Using the Image commands in PHP

---

Source: <http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/PHP/alt.php/2005-09/msg00361.html>

---

- From: "Sander" <sander is settled at cartel in nl>
  - Date: Sun, 25 Sep 2005 14:25:10 +0200
-

"Domestos" <never.you@xxxxxxxx> schreef in bericht
[news:9clZe.14162\$ 56.1824@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx](mailto:news:9clZe.14162$ 56.1824@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx)
> Okay I am getting round the principles of the image stuff... i'm pretty > chuffed with what they can do so far... however...
>
> say I am creating a new image 500x500,
>
> and I wanted to include a .gif into that file at a location (top left > pixel) x=50, y=50 – how do i go about doing that?
>
>
>

Correct me if i am wrong, but you want to create an image that has the 500x500 dimensions and you want to include another picture in it.

That can be done. Use the imagecreate functions.

Sander

.

---

- Follow-Ups:
  - ◆ **Re: Using the Image commands in PHP**
◇ From: Sander
- References:
  - ◆ **Using the Image commands in PHP**
◇ From: Domestos
- Prev by Date: **Re: Feedback form not sending values**
- Next by Date: **Re: Using the Image commands in PHP**
- Previous by thread: **Using the Image commands in PHP**
- Next by thread: **Re: Using the Image commands in PHP**
- Index(es):

Re: Using the Image commands in PHP

- ◆ Date
- ◆ Thread