I have a php page that reads files links from a Database.
This works well, but when we click on the link the file starts to open.

Is there anyway to force the file to SAVE not open ??

[snip]

They can always right click on the link and select "Save Link..."
(exact wording depends on the browser). I'd recommend you add a note to the effect "To save the file, click your right mouse button on the link and select Save".

Something that's gonna be a slight problem for people using a Mac.

Isn't there an equivalent operation for Macs?

Ctrl+click, I think. (Hold the CTRL key and click)
