I just want to know if the mail function works from a localhost (local server)?

I've checked my php.ini all the setting are right but the mail function is not sending any mail, any idea?

best regards.

Dear Dani,

php does not send the mails itself when you are using the mail() function. Depending on the operating system you are using you need additional software to get the email sent. For unix or linux that would be sendmail ...

good luck
