

Ajax captcha reload not working

Source: <http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/PHP/php.general/2008-05/msg00294.html>

- From: bmgz <brendon.gleeson@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 8 May 2008 00:46:29 -0700 (PDT)
-

I have a script that outputs a random captcha and session keystack. I am trying to create an AJAX reload link that will regenerate the image when a user can't read it properly. The problem is the AJAX function keeps returning the same image/key that was generated during the initial page load? If I just visit the actual script url it automatically changes every time I press reload, so why is it not changing when I open the url via AJAX?

.