Again, you snipped all context when responding, showing that you did not bother to read my response:

It is not clear, because you have shown no Perl code. So all we have to go on are assumptions on what you might mean by the word threads.

Since you do not have any Perl code, I am assuming the statement above is referring to operating system specific functionality for invoking programs, and therefore off-topic.

If you want to use threads in Perl, then read the documentation, write Perl code, and ask if you have trouble.
