

perl.beginners: $_

$_

Source: <http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/Perl/perl.beginners/2003-12/1494.html>

From: Eric Walker (ewalker_at_micron.com)

Date: 12/30/03

To: perlgroup <beginners@perl.org>

Date: 30 Dec 2003 09:36:15 -0700

I am going through a file and when I enter a certain routine, I am entering a while loop with the <IN> construct. Is there a way to back the counter up or back up one line before I go into the while loop?

a b
c
d

Instead of seeing b when I enter the while loop, adjust some option and see the a.

perlknucklehead