

RE: [Released] [Contains offensive content] RE: Building Network Redundancy into a Perl Client

Source: <http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/Perl/perl.beginners/2004-12/0319.html>

From: Chris Devers (cdevers_at_pobox.com)

Date: 12/07/04

Date: Mon, 6 Dec 2004 18:45:30 -0500 (EST)
To: "Graeme St. Clair" <Graeme.St.Clair@hds.com>

On Mon, 6 Dec 2004, Graeme St. Clair wrote:

> Does anyone know why or where the phrase [Contains offensive > content] is being inserted into these headers? I wouldn't care, > except my employer's spam filter is holding them up for whatever > reason, as it might be, use of the said phrase...

Nope.

Someone (someone else?) is inserting "spam:" in the subjects, which is about as pointless & annoying.

Spam, and futile efforts to ban it, will kill email yet, just you watch... :-)

--

Chris Devers