

Re: using generators for event handling in python.

Source: <http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/Python/comp.lang.python/2004-09/0491.html>

From: Robin Bryce (robin_at_wiretooth.com)

Date: 09/03/04

To: python-list@python.org

Date: Fri, 03 Sep 2004 00:46:17 +0100

Thanks, I don't have a compact version. I could remove the fork feature but I think this is pretty crucial. And I could strip the comments out. I definitely need to rethink the examples. I don't think any of that really helps express the essence though. Let me see what I can do to boil out the bloat.

I've updated the link in the original post to point at a page that tracks the changes.

Thankyou very much for responding !

Robin Bryce

On Thu, 2004-09-02 at 22:26, Raymond Hettinger wrote:

> > I've been looking at generators from the context of event oriented web > > application development. I was thinking of submitting a version of > > http://www.wiretooth.com/eventhub_recipe.html as a recipe for the python > > cookbook.
>
> It's somewhat long for a recipe. Do you have more compact code that conveys the > essence of your approach?
>
>
> Raymond Hettinger
>