

Re: Possible improvement to slice operations.

Re: Possible improvement to slice operations.

---

Source: <http://coding.derkeiler.com/Archive/Python/comp.lang.python/2005-09/msg00703.html>

---

- From: "Fredrik Lundh" <fredrik@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Mon, 5 Sep 2005 18:09:51 +0200
-

Steve Holden wrote:

> Yes, I've been surprised how this thread has gone on and on.

it's of course a variation of

"You can lead an idiot to idioms, but you can't make him think ;-)"

as long as you have people that insist that their original misunderstandings are the only correct way to model the real world, and that all observed inconsistencies in their models are caused by bugs in the real world, you'll end up with threads like this.

</F>

---

• Follow-Ups:

- ◆ Re: Possible improvement to slice operations.
◇ From: Bengt Richter
- ◆ Re: Possible improvement to slice operations.
◇ From: Ron Adam

• References:

- ◆ Possible improvement to slice operations.
◇ From: Ron Adam
- ◆ Re: Possible improvement to slice operations.
◇ From: Magnus Lycka
- ◆ Re: Possible improvement to slice operations.
◇ From: Scott David Daniels

- Prev by Date: Re: xmlrpc register classes
- Next by Date: Re: Getting the bytes or percent uploaded/downloaded through FTP?
- Previous by thread: Re: Possible improvement to slice operations.

Re: Possible improvement to slice operations.

Re: Possible improvement to slice operations.

- Next by thread: Re: Possible improvement to slice operations.
- Index(es):
  - ◆ Date
  - ◆ Thread